Setting Role Specific Economy Items & Kits

Creating the Roles

Setting role specific items in the store is a great way to give your VIPs, or anyone else for that matter, a way to be rewarded, from adding improved daily free kits, to adding their specific version of items in the store with granted discount or even to give some items VIP access only. The possibilities are truly as big as your imagination.

To do this we will need to set some roles in Discord. To do this head over to server settings, select roles and then click the "Create Role" button. Please name these appropriately as you will need them later, please see image below to show you what you're looking for;

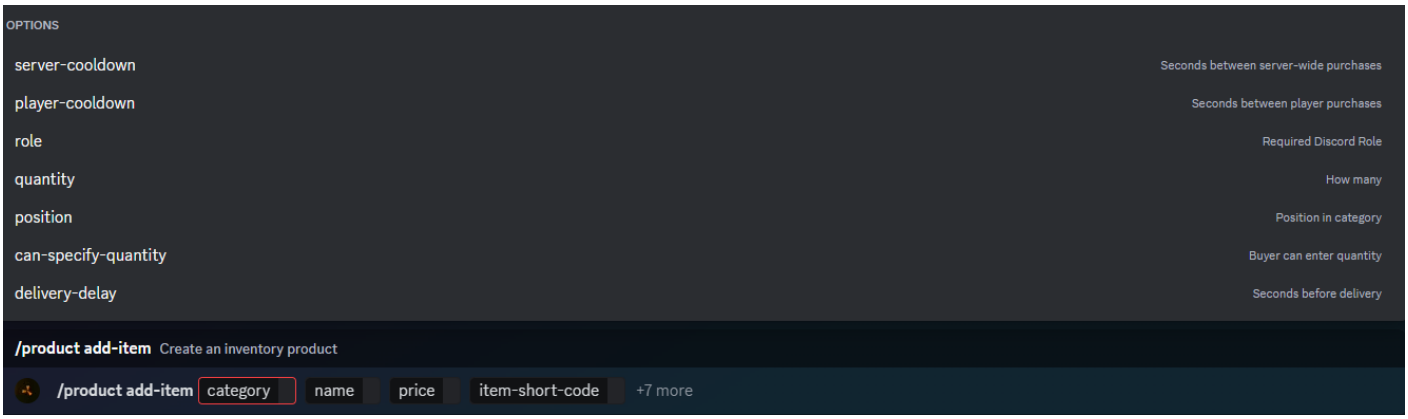

Repeat this process as many times as you need to.

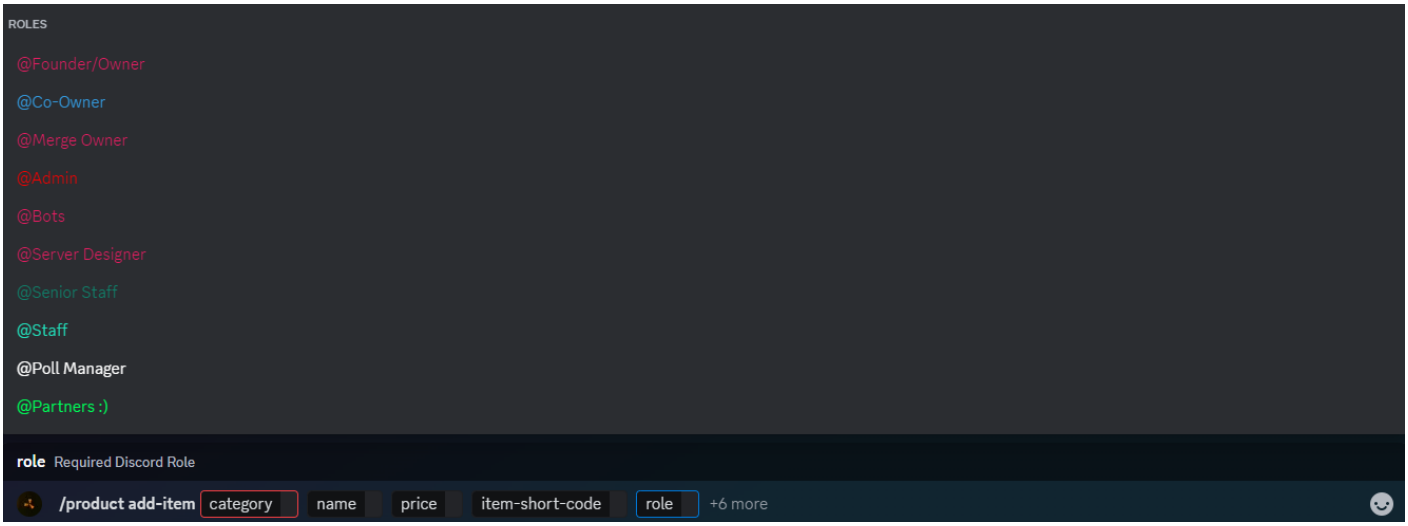

Creating Role Specific Items

Now that we have the roles set we can start to engage with the VereTech RCE Bot.

Start off by using the command /product add-item, see below;

and follow the process as normal when adding an item, if you need assistance with this then please click here to learn more, alternatively if you have added an item which you wish to change to a role specific, you will instead use the command /product edit-item and select the "Role" selection from the menu, here you can choose your dedicated roles, please see below;

Check your Store

Once you have added any role specific items, to test these you will require to give yourself all of the new roles, even as server owner you will not have immunity to the role specific items, you must have the roles.

To carry out the test please use the command /buy to trigger the store, you will then be able to see all of your items and their permission levels, please see below of an example;

This will be an identical process for creating Role specific kits. For more information on kit building, please click here.
